Message from Miss Collis and Mr King

Well done for making through a full virtual half term which should have been full of exams and instead was full of preparation for college and Sixth Form. Those of you that are continuing to work hard are putting yourself into a great position for the future and you can enjoy a well deserved break during May half term. If you are looking for something to do then use that week to look back over Issues 1-5 of the newsletter and see what great opportunities you can still take advantage of.

Challenge of the week:

See if you and your families can identify the dog breed from the emojis on page 2 of this newsletter.

Reminders:

1— Your May half term holiday starts on Monday 25th May, you will have a week of no contact that week!

2—Your preparation for A-Level remote learning packs will be released on 8th June. Make sure you are ready to get started on these to give yourself the best possible start to A-levels
